1		Sri Lankeswar Owarie	Bodoland Territorial Region (BTR) is an autonomous region within the state of Assam with the total population of 31,55,395 residing in 8970 sq km area. Like any other part of our great country, urbanization is posing problems in BTR as well. Currently urban population of BTR is 1,50,530 (04.77% of the total population) and IS still increasing. The Region currently has 09 (nine) Municipal Boards (Kokrajhar, Fakiragram, Gossaigaon, Basugaon, Kajalgaon, Bijni, Goreswar, Tangla and Udalguri) and 01(one) Development Authority (Kokrajhar) to provide qualitative municipal services in Urban Areas.The urban Development Department of Bodoland Territorial Council (BTC), in close partnership with ULBs is striving to find innovative and advanced technological solutions to urban problems of the region like; integrated urban transport, Sanitation, Solid Waste Management, Urban Infrastructure, Urban Housing, Urban Planning, Financial Sustainability of ULBs and general Urban Governance. The task is gigantic; but the Department find it to be achievable through the active community involvement and hard work and sincere efforts of all officers and employees of the department. Visitors of this website are humbly requested to give their valuable suggestions and feed back to assist the Department of Urban Development in its "pursuit of excellence."	Edit
